

Welcome to seminars in Educational Sciences for senior researchers!

During the autumn of 2015 three open seminars in Educational Sciences will take place. The purpose of these seminars is to offer an opportunity for discussions of different examples of ongoing educational research. By providing a variety of examples, both various presuppositions for educational research and different directions thereof will be highlighted. The seminars are planned to meet the interest and needs of senior researchers from research areas other than the educational who want to learn more about that research field. The seminars can also be of interest to supervisors in the cross-disciplinary PhD program FU (Forskarskolan inom det utbildningsvetenskapliga området) and to others who want to deepen their knowledge of educational research.

Every seminar starts by a lecture of 45 minutes followed by discussion. At the latest 10 days before each seminar please notify us about your presence by signing up on the links in below (see seminar programme on next page). Please also indicate if you wish the seminar to take place in English language. Preparatory reading material may be sent out before the seminar.

Responsible for these seminars are the Research Committee of Umeå School of Education in cooperation with Professor Karin Sporre, Department of Applied Educational Science.

The seminars are planned to continue in spring 2016.
